Treasury Matters.

Sixth Auditor McGrew has submitted his annual report to the Secretary of the Treasury. The only recommendation the report contains which has not already been published is that an appropriation be made for 15 additional clerks and one chief clerk at a salary of $2100 per annum.

For the week ending Nov 20th there were distributed 4,229,287 standard silver dollars. For the corresponding week in 1879 346,4.. were distributed.

Director of the Mint Burchard says the statement purporting to give his opinion that coinage of silver dollars can be continued fifteen years without disturbing the actual circulation of gold is unauthorized, on the contrary he believes that the provision for issuing silver certificates which invites the circulation of standard silver dollars, and the opposition of bankers and business men which drives silver dollars into the treasury, does and will prevent their circulation in this country to the extent that franc pieces circulate in France

Protesting Musicians.

Washington, Nov 20—The musicians of San Antonio, Texas have written to the war department protesting against the first infantry band being permitted to play at concerts, balls, etc., thereby preventing the local musicians from making a living by their profession. The general of the army says that regimental bands are not maintained or paid by the United States. The regimental commander selects musicians from companies and thus create a band whose expenses have to be paid out of the pocket of the officers. In despotic Russia and Germany soldiers are encouraged to work for wages as tailors, shoemakers and during harvest to supplement their small pay, and I do not see why in free America a soldier may not by music. He should work in his leisure time and lay by a little money to buy necessaries or to save up and buy a farm after his enlistment. I certainly will not deprive our own soldiers of so simple and fair a privilege. The secretary of war concurs

Washington, Nov 21.—The funeral of Brigadier General Zeeler took place to-day. After the services in the church were over, the remains were escorted by a large detachment of military to the railroad depot for their removal to Pennsylvania for interment

Satisfied.

Chicago, Nov 21—The Inter Ocean's Sunday Washington special says Grant's statement at the New York dinner to the effect that he thought this country had done enough for him is looked upon here as an expression of disapprobation of the New York Times to raise an endowment fund. Very little interest was ever taken in the matter, and it is observed that the Times has abandoned it

The Sherman Bill at Chicago.

The attention of Secretary Sherman was called to-day to stories that have been published yesterday regarding the expense of his delegation at Chicago to the effect that they had been paid by Gov Foster. He said he thought it best to make no statement on the subject, not wishing to be drawn into such a controversy. He said, however there were gentlemen in Ohio fully acquainted with all the facts but for obvious reasons he did not care to say anything himself. A friend of the secretary's, however, says that he met liberally every demand made on him and that if there were unpaid bills at Chicago connected with the Ohio delegation the secretary knew nothing of it. Among republicans here generally there is disgust that such a controversy should have arisen as has been precipitated in Ohio about board and lunch bills at Chicago. It is regarded as a very small business at best. It is noticed that dispatches from Columbus about it are very favorable to Foster, and it is thought here by some that the whole disagreeable business has been sprung just now for the purpose of trying to injure Sherman's chances for the senate. To what extent Gov Foster is responsible for injecting such matter in the campaign is not known

Washington, Nov 21—The annual report of the Indian bureau for 1880 has been completed. It exhibits a continued, steady advancement toward civilization on the part of nearly all Indian tribes, and very remarkable progress in many instances especially among the Ogallallas and Brule Sioux in Dakota, and the Pacific coast Indians collected at Yakima agency. The demands upon the bureau by Indians of a large majority of the agencies for implements which enable them to perform manual labor, are beyond the means at the disposal of the department for that purpose. The desire of the Indians to labor is steadily growing, and large numbers are willing and anxious to engage in civilized pursuits and in caring for the crops raised shows the efforts of the past few years are gradually bringing them to a self supporting condition. The number of Indians in the United States, exclusive of Alaska is reported at 255,938 all of whom except about 18,0.. are more or less under the direct control of the agencies of the government. The civilized Indians now in the territory number 60,367 and uncivilized 17,750. There are in round numbers 26,000 Indians in Dakota, 23,000 in New Mexico, 17,000 in Arizona and 14,000 in Washington territory. It appears there are upwards of 5000 Indians in the state of New York and more than 10,000 in the state of Michigan. During the year 60 boarding, and 11. day schools have been operated among different Indian tribes exclusive of the civilized tribes in the Indian territory which have been attended by over 7000 children and taught by 311 teachers. The educational work of the bureau could have been enlarged to a much greater extent but for the inadequate appropriations made by congress for the support of schools. Fifty thousand Indians at 17 agencies have no treaty school funds whatever and educational facilities must depend entirely on the general appropriation for education. Among these tribes there are at least 7000 children of school age. Reports from schools on various reservations are full of encouragement showing increased and more regular attendance of pupils and a growing interest in education on the part of parents. In compliance with appeals from neglected agencies the bureau has made arrangements for erecting 11 boarding school buildings during the coming season and for the establishment of 1. new boarding schools. These will be the first schools of any kind ever provided for 8030 San Carlos Apache and western Shoshones and the first boarding schools opened for 25,000 Indians at nine other agencies where their regularly attended day schools have hitherto met with indifferent success and made little impression on the tribes among whom they were located. The condition of the P... in Indian territory continues to be prosperous. They have now .. houses and since the first of January last over .0 families have moved into houses. Middlesome persons are still ... to induce the Poncas to abandon their present location and return to Dakota but leading men of the tribe have frequently assured the agent that they are satisfied and do not desire to return

BENR LYNCH Master

THE GREAT CAPTAIN.

Reception to Gen. Grant by the New York Lotus Club—Speech by Whitelaw Reid—Response by the General—A Regular Flow of Soul—Mayor Cooper Proposes the Health of President-Elect General Garfield

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN]

New York, Nov 20—The Lotus Club gave a din[ner] ... [illegible] ... "I shall never forget ... [illegible] ... we shall attack with fresh troops ... [illegible] ...

Well continued Mr Reid what shall we do with him? Are we sure he ... great ... every point with the wildest exploration ... devotion that we can no longer give for him? I do not believe it. I do not think any considerable number of people in either of the great political parties believe it. I am not speaking as a partisan. That I have never been. Of all civil affairs I have not been able to follow where he led and the General himself would, I fancy, be quite willing to give me a certificate for having practiced great freedom of speech upon that subject. Speaking rather then for his political opponents and for those at least of the republican faith, I am confident I may venture so much as to say that no wish, no act of theirs will be wanting to secure for the country the continued services of your guest. We believe the country would be most unwise and unmindful alike of her dignity and her interest if she failed to lay claim to this service. Let me not be misunderstood. I am speaking wholly without Gen Grant's knowledge or that of any of his immediate friends, or with any deference whatever to his interests. Those will be taken care of anyway. This is no blind broken down Belisarius holding out his helmet for alms. It is a question solely of what the country owes itself. Can it afford to say we have no further use for the experience gained at the head of the army and at the head of the government? Why for example should not the soldier of Appomattox be borne, while he lives on the retired list of the army? Why, indeed should we not create for him the rank he has so conspicuously earned and make him while he lives captain general of the armies of the United States? Above all why should not the country say to him, and to every retiring president henceforth we wish your advice and your knowledge of our affairs in our highest council—the senate of the United States? You have wisdom that comes with experience and moderation that comes with the exercise of power. Henceforth your future is provided for. Let all your thoughts and all your care be for your country, to the end. To some such plan the purpose of the country is surely turning and neither party nor president should be suffered to stand in its way. Well gentlemen you have heard too much of my voice already and you have lately discovered that in spite of his life-long efforts to conceal it your guest is an admirable speaker. Fill your glasses then. We are democrats and republicans here; northerners and southerners; men who wore the blue and men who wore the gray; conservatives and stalwarts, third termers and anti third termers; and possibly we have even some timid souls in dread of the empire but in admiration for heroism and in gratitude for victory and peace we are all Grant men to-night. I give you the toast that has been honored by every loyal camp fire on the continent, the prayer that has been breathed in every patriotic household: "Health to our first soldier and our first citizen."

Gen Grant, who was cheered for several seconds as he rose responded briefly as follows:

Mr President and Gentlemen of the Lotus Club—I feel very much embarrassed in making any response to the complimentary remarks of your president. I do not know what in the world I have got to say. [Laughter.] I do not want to say that they are not deserved [laughter] and I do not want to convince you that they are not [renewed laughter] but if I stand here five minutes I shall prove to you that one of the remarks of your president is untrue without any effort on my part and that is where he charges me with being able to make a speech [laughter]. That no doubt that all of you will be convinced of that fact; that a misstatement was then made before I sat down. [Renewed laughter.] Now in regard to the future of myself which has been alluded to here, I am entirely satisfied as I am to-day. [Great applause.] I am not one of those who cry out against republics and charge them with being ungrateful. [Applause.] I am sure that as regards the American people as a nation and as a people I have every reason if any person really has to be satisfied with their treatment of me. [Loud applause.] I hope to have many years yet of life. I believe I am in quite vigorous health forty eight years of age, and have been for the last ten years [laughter] and if I can render my country any service in any way I should certainly be very happy to do so. [Applause.] But as I am of the age of forty eight years, as I say I am beyond the period of volunteering and if I am ever wanted in any way I shall have to be pressed into the service [laughter and applause] but not being obstinate at all [great laughter], I shall have to submit to those who have experience in getting me anywhere that will be entirely comfortable to myself. [Applause.] Now, gentlemen, I thank this club one and all for the courtesies of the evening. I am sorry I am hoarse and have a bad cold and cannot talk longer and thoroughly convince you that what your president has said is not so. [A voice, "It could be worse," and loud applause.]

I wish to make one other remark. I have been sitting by the side of your president and have heard messages coming to him from persons around the board saying they wanted to speak. I have about fifteen minutes of my own time and I will consent to give it to those volunteers. [Great applause and laughter.]

Gov Cornell, Mayor Cooper and others also made speeches. Col Richard Lathers, a noted democrat, proposed the health of President Hayes and Mayor Cooper. Asking permission before the company separated to speak again, said he believed in accepting results frankly and honestly and therefore desired to propose the health of President elect Garfield.

THE ARMY.

Annual Report of the Secretary of War—Estimates and Expenditures—Various Recommendations and Suggestions Concerning the Army.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Washington, Nov 21—The annual report of the secretary of war gives a general review of the various subordinate reports. It calls attention to their several recommendations and details at length the operations of the department during the year. Upon the subject of expenditures, appropriations and estimates, the secretary says: Expenditures for all affairs under control of the department for the fiscal year ending June 30 1880, $39,924,773. Congress appropriated for the service the current fiscal year $41,993,030; estimates for the service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1882 are $43,027,... Estimates in detail were originally submitted to me for $62,429,170, but a revision of the same and omissions or reduction were made as follows: The civil river commission operating in accordance with an act approved June 28, 1879, submitted a report which was duly transmitted to congress last March, and was published by order of the house of representatives. That report exhibited for the first time estimates of the appropriations required of works of improvement therein described amounting to $5,113,000 and it awaited further consideration when the session closed. The commission has communicated to me its desire to renew these estimates and this communication will be transmitted to congress as a matter of special importance not included however in the annual estimates and expenditures for the service of this department. In regard to the South Pass of the Mississippi river the secretary says the permanency of his important work seems to be assured from the fact that there has been no failure whatever in its maintenance of the maximum channel during six months ending Aug 4th last. This improvement has opened through the sands and shoals a broad deep highway to the ocean and is one upon the permanent success of which congratulations may be exchanged among the people abroad and at home and especially among communities of the Mississippi valley whose commercial exchanges lost in an unobstructed channel safely to and from the sea.

Secretary Ramsey concurs in the recommendation of Gen Sherman that congress be asked to give 100 enlisted men equally to troops of the line of the army and favors the abandonment of many small posts and the concentration of larger forces at strategic points. The absence of a large number of officers from regiments is alluded to ... [illegible]

International Regatta Closed.

London, Nov 20—Laycock won the final heat in the international regatta to-day, carrying off the first prize £500. Ross second winning £100, Hosmer third winning £160, and Smith fourth winning £40. Ross fouled with Laycock above Chiswick Eyot. Laycock then took the lead. He not only won on the foul but won the race handsomely by seven lengths in 20 minutes and 41 seconds. Hosmer a good third.

London, Nov 20—In the international regatta race the contest was at first between Ross and Smith but Smith soon fell behind all the others and there was a splendid contest between Ross, who led most of the time and Laycock and Hosmer. Laycock drew away from the others gradually and at Barnes bridge was three lengths ahead of all. His victory was enthusiastically cheered and attributed to his superior condition

The Jews in Germany.

Berlin, Nov 20—In the lower house of the Prussian diet Herr Hanel interpellated the government to-day upon the present movement against the Jews. He denounced the revival of race hatred, and pointed out the inconsistency of such a movement in a country where the government had taken diplomatic action in favor of removal of disabilities of Jews in the Balkan principalities. Count Stolberg Wernigerode, minister of state, replied that the government had not received any petition in favor of partial renewal of disabilities referred to by Herr Hanel but he had no hesitation in declaring that existing laws established religious equality, and that the government had no intention of proposing a modification thereof.

European Impatience.

Paris, Nov 20.—The Temps says Goschen, British minister to Turkey has told the sultan that Europe will not wait longer than ten years for the cession of Dulcigno

Wanting Reinforcements.

Ragusa, Nov 20—Dervish Pasha has asked for a reinforcement of 4000 men

The Responsible Party.

Constantinople, Nov 20—It is stated that at a meeting of foreign ambassadors in regard to the porte, Onou, representing Russia declared that the attitude of certain powers had encouraged Turkey to resistance and consequently the naval demonstration has become useless because it has ceased to exercise any influence upon the porte. The result of the declaration was that on the proposition of Goschen and Count Corti, British and Italian representatives, it was decided that the ambassadors no longer attempt to exercise a pressure upon the porte relative to pending questions

A Report Contradicted.

Constantinople, Nov 21—The statement that the porte replied to the powers that it had commuted the sentence of death passed on the assassin of Col Comeroff to imprisonment for life declaring that every sovereign has a right to extend clemency to his own subjects is untrue. The porte has replied to the inquiries of the Russian dragoman that the Bairam festivities had delayed consideration of the subject. It is expected that the porte will propose the appointment of a fresh commission to investigate again the sanity of the assassin

Dulcigno's Cession.

Dervish Pasha has issued a proclamation to the people of Dulcigno stating that the sultan does not wish to coerce them but appeals to their patriotism to consent to the cession

THE AGITATION IN IRELAND.

The Views of a Moderate English Journal on the Subject of Land Tenure—Coercion Must Ultimately be Resorted to.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN]

London, Nov 21—The Observer in a leading editorial says: As parliament has not been summoned ... [illegible] ...

The desires and aspirations of the Irish national party extend far beyond any alteration of the land tenure. Their five demands inconsistent with the consistency of the British empire. The facts that these demands are such as Great Britain never would consent to accept under compulsion constitutes no reason why we should not remove any real grievance of which Ireland has to complain but when we have done all that legislation can effect, we must assert the authority of the land and supremacy of the union; that such assertion can be made without more or less prolonged curtailment of the liberties of the Irish people, is more than the past experience allows us to expect.

Land Leaguers at Work.

Dublin, Nov 20—Accounts have been received from the various parts of the country by the agents for property representing the state of the country as still more disturbed and demoralized. A combination against the payment of rents extends into districts hitherto peaceful, and the terrorism which follows closely in the wake of the land league, is steadily breaking down the opposition of law abiding citizens. Tenants who do not pretend to be able to pay their rents meet their landlords defiantly and refuse to pay more than Griffith's valuation and in some cases decline to pay at all, or demand arbitrary abatement

After the Land League, What?

Thomas Power O'Connor, M. P., speaking at a public meeting in Galway, said: When the objects of the land league shall have been attained the Irish people will have a more noble course in view—to wrench themselves from the rule of England

Davitt at Home.

Cork, Nov 21—Michael Davitt has returned from his tour in the United States. He brings the tender of the freedom of the city made by the municipality of Chicago to Parnell

Agitators Arrested.

London, Nov 20—Five persons have been arrested near Loughrea, county Galway for assisting to reinstate a family in a house from which it had been evicted. Two of the men arrested, named Chalkerin and Pinder are secretaries of branches of the land league. Another prisoner is a widow who was arrested for trying to take forcible possession of a house. All were remanded for trial and bail refused

The Pope and the Irish Troubles.

Rome, Nov 20—The vatican organ Aurora denies the statement that Irish bishops are pursuing a policy displeasing to the pope, and says neither the pope nor bishops have ever thought of preventing the people from aiming at a legitimate satisfaction of their needs provided they do not deviate from justice and rectitude in their choice of means. Rebellion, incendiarism, destruction of property and homicide are clearly not among the means that can be countenanced

Doings of the Agitators.

Dublin, Nov 21—At a Land League meeting at Tipperary Sunday Boyton, one of the indicted agitators delivered an inflammatory speech. The hitherto quiet county Kildare, is now under dominion of agitators

THE FLIGHT INTO EGYPT—A narrative poem with some minor poems. By Thomas E. Van Bebber. San Francisco: A. L. Bancroft & Co. 1880. 12mo pp 120

The Flight into Egypt, which occupies nearly 200 pages of this volume, is a poetic narrative of the flight of Joseph and Mary with the infant Jesus into Egypt. The subject is not felicitous because we know little of the true history of the flight and the prevalent feeling in regard to it, forbids the invention of incidents suited to give a variety of impressions. Mr Van Bebber has a poetical conception, and sympathy with nature but he does not produce strong effects in brilliancy of versification, forcible imagery, or compression of great ideas into a few words.

This is one of the "English Men of Letters Series," edited by John Morley. It is a thorough work, beginning with Pope's parentage, his early years, and passing carefully through his early literary career and then to an examination of his greater works, and lastly to a review of his epistles and satires. The life and writings of Pope have been discussed in a literature more voluminous than that which exists in the case of almost any other Englishman of letters. No biographer however has produced a definitive or exhaustive work. The present work would seem to be intended to indicate the main authorities upon which such a biographer would have to rely. The first life of Pope was a catchpenny book by William Ayre, published 1745 and remarkable chiefly as giving ... of erroneous statements. ... 1751 Warburton published the authoritative edition of the poet's works with notes containing some biographical matter. In 1769 appeared a life by Owen Ruffhead who wrote under Warburton's inspiration. Warton's edition of Pope—the notes in which are chiefly drawn from the essay—was published in 1797. The life by Johnson appeared in 1781 but Johnson had taken the least possible trouble in ascertaining facts. Mr Stephen remarks in this work that "the ideal biographer of Pope, if he ever appears, must be endowed with the qualities of an acute critic and a patient antiquarian, and it would take years of labor to work out all the minute problems connected with the subject. All that I can profess to have done is to give a short summary of the obvious facts and of the main conclusions established by the evidence given at length in the writings of Dilke and Mr Elwin"

West crosscut, No 2350-foot level, is passing through streaks of ore assaying $24 to $40. Superintendent Boyle of Alta says the diamond drill southeast of the 2050-foot level has penetrated the ledge 51½ feet. Assays not yet made, but he is satisfied that the borings are as good as from crosscut No 1, taking the width of the vein in Benton and in crosscut No 2 and direction of drill into account. He thinks that he has 30 feet yet to go to get through the ledge. He believes they will only have to sump now a short distance under water after which pumping and baling will be stopped. LITERARY ITEMS.

The Canadian papers say that Prof. Goldwin Smith is writing a biography of George Washington, which will be published in Boston next spring.

It is stated that 1,000,000 copies of the Science Primer brought out under the joint editorship of Profs Huxley, Roscoe and Balfour Stewart have been sold.

"Jefferson Davis' Memoirs," it is now stated, will not be given to the public until April next. The Appletons have the first volume in type but they are delaying the publication until the second volume is ready.

M. Barthelemy Saint Hilaire, the French minister of foreign affairs, is the happy possessor of the library left by the celebrated Cousin. It was his reward for several years of faithful service as private secretary.

The Egerton library of manuscripts in the British museum has recently had an important addition—a rare copy of the Divina Commedia of Dante, small folio, on paper, written in the year 370, formerly in the possession of Sir Anthony Panizzi.

The two new volumes of the Memoirs of Prince Metternich, 1815-1848, which Bentley & Son announce, will contain particulars of the congresses of Laybach, Aix-la-Chapelle and Verona, the eastern war of 1829, and the revolution period of 1848.

Mr Thomas Hughes is said to have told a friend in Boston that his "Tom Brown" was intended as a portrait of Dean Stanley, and that a gentleman now a distinguished officer in the East Indies and the best shot in the British army was the original of East.

Victor Hugo's poem, "L'Ane," which has just appeared in Paris, deals with that humble animal the donkey, as the spirit of patience, and makes him rebuke in ringing numbers the "woeful blockheads" of our civilization who cumber him with dry-as-dust tomes and rob him as well as themselves of the love of nature. The patient ass delivers the poet's lofty scorn.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN]

Washington, Nov 19—Internal Revenue Collector Marks at New Orleans has forwarded to Commissioner Raum a letter received from Deputy Collector J. H. Lanier who has charge of the upper parishes of Louisiana bordering on the river. The letter is dated Lake Providence November 10th, and says: In consequence of my candidacy for congress upon the republican ticket, the spirit of intolerance which prevails here and the attempts which have been made to assassinate me, and the assassination of Dr. B. W. Jones editor of my paper because of his active support of the Garfield electors and myself renders it utterly impossible for me to properly discharge my duties as deputy collector of internal revenue of this district. In addition I have to inform you that I am at this moment a prisoner in my own house, and dare not go out for fear of immediate assassination. I find it also necessary to leave this collection district at least for the present to secure my personal safety. Please advise me what to do in the premises.

I do not intend to allow our officers to be intimidated and driven from their districts. Employ five competent courageous men and arm them well to accompany Deputy Collector Lanier in policing his division and enforcing the laws. Instruct them to defend themselves at every hazard. I will furnish you breech loading carbines if necessary

Catarrhal
Wei De Meyer's Treatise on Catarrh, explains the following important facts
1. That Catarrhal Colds become a poisonous infection, at first local, and finally constitutional.
2. That, being Constitutional, the infection is beyond the reach of mere local remedies.
3. That impurities in the nostrils, are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs, thus poisoning the Digestive, Respiratory and Genito-urinary organs.
4. That Catarrhal virus follows the mucous membrane and causes Deafness, Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhea, Bronchitis, Leucorrhea, and Consumption.
5. That Smokes, Douches, Inhalations, and Insuable Snuffs, cannot possibly remove infectious inflammation from the organs named.
6. That an antidote for Catarrh must possess an inoculative affinity for, and the quality of being absorbed by, the purulent mucous wherever located.
Based upon these plain theories, Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure has proved to be infallible. It not only relieves, it cures Catarrh at any stage. Home testimony:

WEARY OF SECTIONAL POLITICS.

A telegraphic report from Washington to the New York Herald states that the possible relations of the south to the new administration are being discussed with great interest. Southern men of great prominence who visited the national capital during the canvass did not hesitate to declare that if the democrats were beaten this time the south would no longer remain "solid." General Garfield's personal relations with many influential southern men have long been of the most friendly and intimate, and it is thought that while he may not choose to call into his cabinet any man from a section of the country which did not give an electoral vote to the party, he may, with the advice of Mr. Conkling and other leading supporters, undertake to put the federal service in the southern states on an entirely new footing, selecting prominent and influential southern men for the most important federal offices, with a view to drawing into the republican ranks such men, on their guarantee that they and their friends will reorganize the party and make it a fair representation of the property and intelligence of their states. This plan is thought by General Garfield's friends to be very near his heart, his belief being they say, that, while the country desires, for the present, no important changes in general legislation, he can make his administration useful to the country and famous in history by bringing about a natural condition of politics in the south.

President Hayes has failed to accomplish this during his term, not because his course has been wanting in wisdom, but because the time hitherto has not been ripe for it. He has been beset with difficulties and obstacles on all sides. First, the "stalwarts" of his own party were hostile to his conciliatory attempts, for the reason that the course which he was compelled to pursue involved what appeared to be an abandonment of the republican party at the south; and second, the south would not yet listen, because it was persuaded that it was worth while to make one more effort to win the presidency. Time and the turn of events will now dispose both sides to take more naturally to the policy of accommodation. As a pioneer in this direction President Hayes encountered obstacles which President Garfield will not meet, now that the way has been partly cleared. To make a policy successful it is not sufficient always that it be a wise one. It must be presented at a time when events dispose men's minds to consider it fairly. Sectional hostility, if the coming administration shall prove a wise one, ought now to pass away rapidly; for since the south sees at last that sectional solidity is hopeless, it ought naturally to become more tolerant, and since the north will in that case cease to fear undue ascendency of southern influence in the government, it will relax too; and thus there should now be a common basis for better understanding. Of sectional politics and sectional division of parties the country is heartily weary. And no wonder, for we have had nothing else for just about thirty years. People will begin to vote on other questions just as soon as dissolution of the solid south announces that old politics are at an end. Whether the south is willing to take a step in this direction or not we shall see by the course of its representatives in congress before the winter is over. Ever since the war closed our political situation has been almost a state of war. It is gratifying to find now a situation which offers surer hope of what used to be called "an era of good feeling," than has been presented since the sectional division of parties began to take form, nearly thirty years ago.

RAILROAD NEWS.

For twenty years the Pacific northwest has been considering the chances of obtaining a railway across the continent. Indeed, since our first preliminary survey was made, it is now nearly thirty years. Connection could have been secured by a branch from Salt Lake to the Columbia river at the time provision was made for building the road to California, for government was then in a giving mood and would not have minded thirty or forty millions more. But it was neglected by those who then represented our territories in congress, or rather by those who failed to represent them, and the opportunity of obtaining direct aid from government passed, never to return. Since then the northwest has been sitting and waiting, under a constantly growing sense of the inconvenience of its isolation.

But there are now many signs that this long period of isolation is soon to be ended. If coming events cast their shadows before, then every observer may plainly discern the approach of the event for which the northwest has waited so long. Not only particular incidents but combination of many facts point to this result. There are great interests converging and pressing this way which cannot stop short of this consummation, and the demand they make is all the time growing more and more urgent. Developments on our northern border, from the great lakes to the Pacific northwest, calls for this through railway communication and must soon enforce it. Hitherto there has been some doubt as to how and by what route the result would first be reached. But information is now received which seems to settle that question decisively.

Mr. Henry Villard, who is known always to be accurate in his statements, and whose position enables him to have early and complete information as to matters of this kind, telegraphs from New York that a syndicate of leading bankers there, headed by Winslow, Lanier & Co., have concluded an arrangement for furnishing the Northern Pacific Company with sufficient money to complete their line from the east to Ainsworth, at the mouth of Snake river. Mr. Villard expresses the belief that this will be done just as fast as money can do it. He also telegraphs that this will hasten the construction of the O. R. & N. Company's line from Portland to The Dalles. That is, the arrangement evidently contemplates connection of the Northern Pacific with the O. R. & N. Company's line at Ainsworth or Wallula. How long a time will be required to put the road through so that cars may run from Portland to Chicago is not stated, but the time should not be more than two years. It may, indeed, be said almost with certainty, that two years will suffice to complete it. The Northern Pacific, coming west, has now entered Montana. All preparations are made for pushing it from both ends with all possible energy next year. A dispatch which we published a few days ago announced the purchase of nearly 40,000 tons of rails for the road, including 10,000 tons for the Pacific slope. Progress on this end has been delayed by the failure to get the timber contracted for; but it will be had early next year, and the Pend d'Oreille division will be completed within the summer, and work will be pushed further on. The problem of the Northern Pacific is now to build about 800 miles of road. With ample resources now provided, two years ought to suffice for it.

It will be the care of the O. R. & N. company to anticipate the completion of the Northern Pacific to Ainsworth by having their road in operation from Portland to that point. Between Portland and the Dalles there will be a good deal of heavy work. But if necessary the whole could be completed within one year. Advertisements are already published calling for proposals to clear the line of the road of timber and other obstructions; and it is understood that work at those points where rock is encountered will be prosecuted during the winter. It may be safely said that the days of our isolation are drawing to a close. Looking down that long vista of time and distance, the end now at last draws near. We shall have railroad connection with the east, and the pulsations of the new and more active life which will follow it.

A "FORGERY," IS IT?

> THE OREGONIAN has a great deal to say about the infamy of the Morey letter, which it pronounces a base forgery got up to influence the election. Such criticism comes with ill-grace from a newspaper that at the same time published forged correspondence, undoubtedly written in its own office asserting a despicable lie for the purpose of injuring the Willamette Farmer. At that time party feeling ran high and this forgery warned republicans that the Farmer was the most dangerous democratic paper in the state, and was doing more injury to the republican cause than any other. If the Morey letter was infamous then this other forgery was infamous.

Now THE OREGONIAN does not intend to permit even Sam Clarke to accuse it of "forgery;"—and therefore it proceeds to deal with him once more as he deserves.

Some weeks ago Mr. James Abraham, a well known citizen of Multnomah county, brought to us the letter which Clarke pronounces "a forgery, undoubtedly written in THE OREGONIAN office," and asked us to print it. We did so. The letter denounced the Farmer for publishing democratic partisan matter while claiming to be an agricultural paper, and referred to a postal card which had been sent to Clarke directing him to stop the paper going to a certain subscriber, because it was a democratic sheet running under false pretenses.

In his next issue Clarke answered in an apologetic way. He said: "Such a postal card was written, but the gentlemen who wrote it has since called at the office and was satisfied when the matter was explained to him." Now since Clarke admits that this postal card was written, and that he afterwards had a talk with the author about it, he thus blunderingly gives up the charge he has made, and we could be content with that, even if there were no other proof;—for how should we know anything about the postal card which he received, or be able to base a "forgery" upon it? We simply printed the letter as written by Mr. Abraham, and brought to this office by him in person.

Clarke also admitted in his next issue after the letter appeared in this paper that some democratic partisan matter had appeared in his so-called Farmer, but in his customary whining way said in substance that he hoped it would be overlooked as the quantity was small, that he was in poor health, and that one in his condition ought not to be held responsible. Of course this was accompanied with no small amount of vile abuse levelled at THE OREGONIAN; but as Clarke had so pitifully pleaded his imbecility, we let it pass. Since, however, he has now returned to it after a lapse of several weeks, bringing against THE OREGONIAN the charge of "forgery," the case is altered, and we are bound no longer to forbearance.

As an agricultural and news paper the Willamette Farmer is one of the sorriest frauds among all the Peter Funk newspapers of Oregon. It is unable to run on its own resources, and is published in connection with the Standard of this city. Hence its democratic tone, since partisan matter made up for the Standard finds its way into the Farmer. To avoid the expense of setting type, which neither of them is able to pay, the two use the same matter, which is simply "lifted" from one to the other. The Standard has the first use of the matter, which is made up for its own purposes as an extreme partisan democratic sheet, and then passes it over to the Farmer. Neither has any news, political, commercial or general except what is pirated from THE OREGONIAN from day to day. This the Standard garbles and fixes up with a partisan bias to suit its own objects, and then the Farmer takes the matter in type after the Standard has used it. When important matter is not published in THE DAILY OREGONIAN till Friday, then the Farmer is extremely short that week, and is obliged to fill up with stale clippings set in long primer by the Standard-Farmer combination to save compositors' bills. The work produced by this shabby and miserable arrangement is simply an imposition on the public. It is nothing less than obtaining money under false pretenses—though the offense may be somewhat mitigated by the fact that the effort to get money by the method pursued meets with very poor success. The Farmer as an agricultural paper and the Standard as a general newspaper are on the same plane. They are old junk stock, and bear about the same relation to actual and legitimate journalism that a dealer in cast-off garments bears to the regular clothing and dry goods trade. In nothing do they ever exhibit the slightest energy except in their malignity towards THE OREGONIAN. This journal is the constant object of their insane though utterly impotent hatred, the sole cause of which is found in the fact that the public naturally want a real newspaper, and pass with impatient contempt by all the productions of fraudulent journalism.

It is beyond doubt that the land tenure system of Ireland is fruitful in most atrocious injustice. But the necessary changes in the law can only be brought about by working on public opinion, particularly in England. Every resort to violence and every defiance of law revives and strengthens the unfortunate prejudice which centuries of injustice have implanted in the English mind against Ireland and Irishmen. The cause of Irish land reform has declined as violence of Irish agitation has increased. This is apparent from the fact that the support which has been given the government in its efforts to relieve Ireland some months ago now begins to be withdrawn. Reform of the Irish land laws, which is the only rational and practical end sought by the agitators, can be secured only through forms of law. Riotous proceedings, inflammatory appeals which bear fruit in assassinations, and demands for separation or revolution, can serve only to alienate the sympathetic feeling of the English liberals and harden still more those who maintain that Ireland can be governed only by the iron hand. The agitation in the shape it has latterly assumed, is therefore altogether worse than useless. But an appeal made to English justice, without resort to violence, would win at last.

Many eastern journals are already troubling their readers with speculations upon the political contest to take place four years hence. A class of journals profess to believe that General Grant will then surely be the coming man; and absurd stories of promises on the part of Mr. Garfield and his friends to give Grant their support in return for the active efforts of Grant and his friends to secure Garfield's election this time, are circulated and commented on at great length. No one believes the stories, unless he has a perverse desire to believe them. They are utterly improbable and foolish. And besides, the republican nomination for the presidency has never yet been settled in advance by bargains among politicians. As for the third term nightmare, it is unseasonable, and a very old story.

Our special commercial reports from New York and Chicago, published to-day, show extraordinary activity in the grain and provision markets, especially at the last named place. It is a decided "boom," in fact, as the report says, "the greatest ever known." Such reports from eastern grain markets will certainly have the effect of still further stiffening our own—a consequence which our farmers who are still holding their wheat will be glad to see.

Large numbers of southern newspapers begin to talk as if they seriously thought that the south had been feeding on husks for the benefit of northern democracy quite long enough. These indications of the dawn of independent thinking are encouraging portents.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The sum total of the majorities for Garfield in northern states, the national committee announces, will be 520,000. The sum total of the northern majorities for Hancock will hardly reach 1800. That is what the north thinks of the party which has made elections in the south a sham, in which the vote as announced bears no relation to the vote as cast.

The czar's bride on the Parisian plan ought to be popular with the nihilists if the following cablegram can be relied upon for verity: "The Princess Dolgorouki has promised that so long as she is in favor with the czar no nihilists shall be executed." This, however, is a delusive hope. She is now his wife, and is more likely to lose his favor than she were before this relationship was recognized.

At Columbia, Pennsylvania, large numbers of postal cards on which the following interesting legend is printed, have been dropped into the postoffice: "Wanted—320 villainous, able-bodied, loud-mouthed democrats of the Chicago copperhead order, who bellow fraud, nigger, forgery, etc., and who can shed tears copiously, to go to New York at once to attend the democratic funeral of John Kelly. For rations and transportations apply to Col. John W. Flopper."

The Eastern Empire, Tom Merry's paper, ought to be above the style of misrepresentation that professional organs pursue. Nevertheless it remarks that, "Last Tuesday's OREGONIAN insists upon disintegration of the sovereign state of Nevada just because she has gone democratic." Now that isn't so at all. This paper said that Nevada as a state ought to be wiped out because there is nothing of it but a mineral lode; because it has no future; because it is only a small dependent community, and because it is the political property of bonanza moguls who alternately buy it up. And it is said, moreover, that it was no worse for Fair to buy it than for Sharon to buy it. The reasons for state disestablishment in the case of Nevada are good, whether the pocket borough goes democratic or republican.

Beecher has received some queer offers in his time. He says: "At a certain period in my life I was offered by a sort of syndicate who was in the business $300,000 if I would give them my time, including Sundays, for the space of two months. They offered to pay me $150,000 in advance, and the remaining $150,000 in two equal monthly installments. But do you suppose I would go about the country like a monkey one year for $300,000, or for any other sum of money? This was only one of a score of offers received. P. T. Barnum offered me $10,000 if I would lecture in his colisseum ten nights, choosing my own times and themes. A man in Baltimore offered me $400 an evening for a long term if I would simply appear in the principal hall there with him and sit for thirty minutes each night on the stage in view of the audience and not say a single word."

DIED.

THE BRUMFIELD MURDER CASE.

Trial of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas at Walla Walla on Charge of Murdering S. W. Brumfield and Wife.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WALLA WALLA, Nov. 20.—The defense has just closed the examination of witnesses, and the hearing of arguments is set for Monday morning. Over thirty witnesses were examined in all. The evidence shows that about the 28th of January a party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Brumfield and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas arrived at the Star hotel in this city, that they here bought a team, and three days later started for the Palouse; that after crossing the Touchet, twenty miles from here, Brumfield, a man of wealth and the holder of U. S. bonds and certificates of deposit on the First National bank and a Kansas City bank, was never seen with the parties again; on the 6th of February the remaining three passed Cow creek for the Spokan; when about twenty miles from Big Lake they stopped a month with a man by the name of Shefer; that Thomas left there for six days and during that time visited Colfax, where he sold a certificate of deposit on the First National bank of Walla Walla in favor of S. W. Brumfield, also showed U. S. bonds in favor of Brumfield; that at Shefer's place the parties went as Brumfields and Lizzie Thomas, changing names; Thomas said he had a letter from Brumfield; never showed it; said Brumfield was near the Columbia river, and finally left, going south; twenty miles from there Thomas and wife were travelling alone, and meeting friends said that the other woman had gone by stage. Fourteen miles from Snake river he sold his team and hired passage to the depot in Walla Walla with a farmer; started east the day of his arrival, and was captured at Kansas City, that on the 6th of March a body was found in the Touchet with a bullet hole in the head. No testimony as to how long it had been there was presented at Walla Walla; it was not recognized till the papers published the story of the double murder. Part of the parties claimed they recognized him in connection with the facts; some did not know him. Thomas, at Walla Walla, said Brumfield was at Spokan Falls in a hotel. The brother-in-law of Thomas swore he saw Brumfield at Kansas City, March 29, 1880. He was very sharply cross-examined and immediately arrested on a charge of perjury and is now in jail awaiting trial. The jury was allowed to separate till Monday morning.

NOTES FROM JOSEPHINE.

ALTHOUSE, Nov. 15, 1880.

The weather in Illinois valley continues delightful. Just enough rain has fallen to lay the dust.

Vegetables are ready sale at fair prices. Potatoes are 1¼c per lb, onions 2c, cabbage 2c, squashes 2c, and all other varieties bring remunerative prices.

Mr. B. Brady raised this season 27,600 pounds of potatoes on four acres of ground. The land is a sandy loam and situated on the east bank of the Illinois river.

Twenty-three fat black and brown bears have been killed in the valley since the white oak mast began falling. The animals are still numerous. Deer are also plentiful on the lower mountain ranges and along the foothills.

Wimer & Simons are still piping on their claim near Waldo. Their last clean up, four weeks ago, is reported to have been the best they have yet made. They have the best water privilege in the county and a very extensive tract of good mining ground.

Work will not be commenced on the Jacksonville and Crescent City wagon road until next spring. Mr. Gasquetto, who has contracted to complete the road, will put a force of men on the work about the first of May next and push it rapidly to completion. Teaming over the old road has been suspended for the season.

W. Q. Brown & Co., who own the celebrated tunnel claim on lower Althouse creek, have leased their diggings for a term of three years to a company of Chinamen. The price to be paid is $2000 per annum. Peter Hanson, an old resident, has been appointed receiver, and the celestials are to take possession December 1st.

THANKSGIVING TURKEYS.

One of the most enterprising of Portland's citizens is C. A. Malarkey, of the New York market, corner of Oak and Second streets. In order that all may have an opportunity of enjoying a good Thanksgiving dinner, he has laid in a very large supply of the very finest quality of turkeys, also tame ducks, tame geese, chickens, and wild game of all kinds. His supply of turkeys is especially fine, and have been fattened with great care. He is also in receipt, by every steamer, of fresh eastern oysters; also Olympia oysters received fresh every day. If you want a good article go to Mr. Malarkey for it.

To the Musical Public.

I have just received from eastern publishing houses a large lot of NEW and STANDARD SHEET MUSIC, which I will sell for the next 60 days at 20 cents on the dollar. This is a splendid opportunity and I hope will be appreciated by all buyers of SHEET MUSIC. DEALERS, TEACHERS and MUSICAL people in the country, will do well to send to me for a list of this music and special prices.

THE COLUMBIA RIVER BAR.

Official Proceedings and Report of the Board of Pilot Commissioners—Rules and Regulations Adopted.

On Tuesday, 16th inst., the board of pilot commissioners, accompanied by Capt. Flavel and other gentlemen, went on board the bar tug C. J. Brenham at Astoria, which then made fast to the ship Red Cross drawing 21 feet 8 inches, and proceeded down to Baker's bay.

The shoal channel at the east end of Sand island (between the island and Chinook spit) was reached at 11:45, at losing flood, high water on a full moon tide. Here the lead was cast on both sides of the tug for a distance of about half a mile, showing a depth of water ranging from 21 to 27 feet. There being no swell on the surface, the ship in tow, though drawing two inches more than the depth indicated by the lead, in the shoalest water, was pulled through with a taut hawser with ease by the tug Brenham without any detention.

The Red Cross might easily have been towed outside the bar, but not having a full crew on board she was safely anchored in Baker's bay.

The tug was then headed for the bar through the north channel and the lead kept a going all the way. The tide having by this time ebbed about two feet. At this stage of the tide the soundings showed a depth in the north channel of from twenty-five to seven fathoms. The tide being ebb and the wind light from north-east, the bar was exceptionally smooth.

Returning by the north channel the tug crossed the middle sands through the narrow Swash channel, connecting the north and south channels, and over the ground dredged last summer by order of Col. Gillespie. The tide had now fallen about ten feet and the shoalest water obtained in this channel by careful casts of the lead was 16 feet. As there had been some contradictory rumors afloat respecting the depth of water in this Swash channel, the Brenham was caused to pass through it three times but the result was the same. The Swash channel presents a shorter route into the Columbia river for vessels of moderate draught, but no calculation should at present be made for a depth of water in this channel of over 14 feet.

From the upper end of Swash channel the tug now headed outward by the south channel steering a course and on the west side of the bar channel buoys, and returning on the east side, taking soundings all the way and occasionally making angles across the channel. The depth of water in the south channel varied from twenty to twenty-seven feet for a distance of two miles, and about half a ….

Having now passed out of the north channel, returned through the middle or Swash channel into the south channel, and the board of pilot commissioners having made a practical examination of the bar to their entire satisfaction, the Brenham with her party was again headed for Astoria and reached her berth at 5:30 P. M.

Capt. Flavel, managing owner of the bar tugs Astoria, C. J. Brenham and Columbia, kindly placed the Brenham at the disposal of the board, and afforded every facility for taking soundings and making a thorough examination of the bar and surroundings at the mouth of the Columbia river.

The board has examined the bar tugs now in commission, and report that each one is supplied with two eleven-inch hawsers and all other necessary appliances for carrying on the business of bar towing as required by law.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

The following are the rules and regulations adopted for the government of the board of pilot commissioners for the Columbia river bar and Columbia and Willamette rivers:

First—The semi-annual meetings of the board shall be held at the office of the board at Astoria, Oregon, on the first Mondays in November and May of each year.

Second—All applicants for license or branches to pilot on the Columbia river bar must state the number of years' experience at sea and the capacity in which such applicant has acted, and his experience on this bar, and be recommended by not less than one bar pilot and one or more ship masters; also be accompanied by a bond in the sum of five thousand dollars with good and sufficient sureties, conditioned upon the faithful performance of his duties as such pilot.

Third—All applications for license or branch to pilot on the Columbia and Willamette rivers from Astoria to Portland must state the number of years experience on said rivers and the capacity in which such applicant has acted, and must be recommended by not less than one licensed river pilot and two or more experienced masters of river steamers; also be accompanied by a bond in the sum of three thousand dollars with good and sufficient sureties, conditioned upon the faithful performance of his duties as such river pilot.

Fourth—Whenever any master, agent or consignee of any sailing vessel, steamship or steamer shall desire to make a complaint against any pilot licensed by this board for neglect, carelessness, incompetency or malicious conduct while in the discharge of his duties as pilot on said vessel or steamer said master, agent or consignee shall file with the secretary of the board a written complaint specifying the charges against said pilot, and shall deposit with the secretary the sum of $20 taking his receipt therefor. And in case said pilot shall be found guilty of the charges so preferred against him, then the money deposited by said master, agent or consignee shall be returned to him and all expenses attending the examination of pilots on charges so preferred shall be taxed against the party at fault.

Fifth—Pilots are requested to give the secretary of this board any information they may possess regarding the names of vessels arriving and departing, their class, tonnage, draft of water and amount received for pilotage.

J. A. BROWN, Chairman,
J. G. HUSTLER,
J. H. D. GRAY,
Pilot Commissioners.

CONCERNING THE NEW CHANNEL.

Answer of Col. Gillespie to the Letter from Portland Merchants—Soundings by the Shubrick.

A letter from many shipping merchants of this city to Col. G. L. Gillespie, major of engineers, asking that soundings of the new channel through the sands at the mouth of the Columbia be made once a month was published several weeks ago in THE OREGONIAN. Col. Gillespie has answered as follows:

U. S. ENGINEER OFFICE,
PORTLAND, OGN., Nov. 15, 1880.

Thomas Heath, Esq., agent for R. C. Janion & Co., and others:—Gentlemen—I have the honor to state that since the receipt of your kind favor of the 27th ult., I have been so occupied with other duties that I have not been able to give the subject matter of your communication the consideration to which it is entitled.

The examination you ask for will require not only many consecutive days of calm weather at regular intervals during each month, but will also require the constant employment of a competent assistant and several employees, together with a steam tug.

The appropriations available for such purposes are too limited to enable me to make monthly examinations; but I shall endeavor to meet the wishes of the public by making the examinations more frequent than heretofore; the results of which will be published as you have suggested. Very truly,

G. L. GILLESPIE,
Maj. of Engineers, Bt. Lieut. Col. U. S. A.

The following information relating to the new channel will be read with interest:

U. S. ENGINEER OFFICE,
PORTLAND, Nov. 17, 1880.

Thomas Heath, agent for R. C. Janion & Co., and others—Sirs: I send you enclosed copy of a letter received day before yesterday from Capt. Alfred Everson, commanding the light house tender Shubrick. I estimate that the survey indicates nineteen feet approximately, at dead low water, through the swash channel. Very truly,

G. L. GILLESPIE,
Maj. of Engineers, B't. Lieut. Col. U. S. A

U. S. L. H. TENDER SHUBRICK
ASTORIA, Nov. 14, 1880.

Col. G. L. Gillespie—Sir:—I have the pleasure to inform you that on the 13th inst. I carefully sounded the "swash" channel and found the least water to be 31 feet, high water. The wind was quite fresh from the northeast, and probably the water did not attain its usual height.

I also crossed the middle sands to the south channel, carrying 18 feet. The wind and sea increasing, I was reluctantly obliged to discontinue further operations. I am sir very respectfully,

[Signed] ALFRED EVERSON.

Harrisburg Nucleus: William Fawver, an old man about 65 years of age, living on the island below Harrisburg on the old Ingram place, was instantly killed on Tuesday, the 16th inst., while digging potatoes in the field near his house. The wind was blowing strong and broke off the top of a balm tree near where he was at work. In trying to avoid the tree it appears he ran directly under it, and it struck him on the head, mashing in the skull and breaking his neck. He was a sober, industrious citizen, and leaves a wife and six small children to mourn his sad and untimely end.

It has been definitely ascertained that the death of Woodson Patterson, of Douglas county last week while out hunting, was caused by the kick of his horse. It appears that he had put the deer on the horse to pack it home, and was leading the horse, when it either became frightened or unruly from some cause, and kicked him. The horse ran home, snagging itself, throwing the saddle and deer. When found Patterson was still alive, and uttered a few incoherent words before dying.

BEAVERTON

Homestead Tract

FOR SALE ON EASY TERMS,

In Parcels of from One to Twenty Acres.

About 700 Acres of Choice Garden, Pasture and Grain Land in the Charming and Thriving Township of Beaverton.

It is distant from Portland about six miles by the Canyon road, one of the most delightfully romantic of the roads leading out of Portland. The distance by the Westside Railway is about nine miles. The property adjoins the railway depot.

The land is chiefly level, but fringed with gentle undulations, which are destined to be crowned with villa residences as Beaverton grows in favor as a suburban retreat.

The soil is of unrivalled richness, and repays the gardener's toil with fabulous yields of vegetables and fruits.

We invite those who desire to secure a self-supporting homestead, charmingly situated, with easy access to the city by road or rail, to

MAKE AN EARLY SELECTION.

To the industrious gardener one or two acres will afford an ample livelihood.

To the dairy farmer no situation can be more advantageous or accessible.

THE MIGRATION OF BIRDS.

[From the London Standard.]

Familiar as this migration of birds is to us, there is perhaps no question in zoology more obscure. The long flights they take, and the unerring certainty with which they wing their way between the most distant places, arriving and departing at the same period year after year, are points in the history of birds of passage as mysterious as they are interesting. We know most migrants fly after sundown, though many of them select a moonlight night to cross the Mediterranean. But that their meteorological instinct is not unerring is proved by the fact that thousands are every year drowned in their flight over the Atlantic and other oceans. Northern Africa and western Asia are selected as winter quarters by most of them, and they may be often noticed on their way thither to hang over towns at night, puzzled, in spite of their experience, by the shifting lights of the streets and houses. The swallow or the nightingale may sometimes be delayed by unexpected circumstances. Yet it is rarely that they arrive or depart many days sooner or later, one year with another. Professor Newton considered that were seafowl satellites revolving round the earth their arrival could hardly be more surely calculated by an astronomer. Foul weather or fair, heat or cold, the puffins repair to some of their stations punctually on a given day, as if their movements were regulated by clock work. The swiftness of flight which characterizes most birds enables them to cover a vast space in a brief time. The common black swift can fly 276 miles an hour, a speed which, if it could be maintained for less than half a day, would carry the bird from its winter to its summer quarters. The large purple swift of America is capable of even greater feats on the wing. The chimney swallow is slower, 90 miles an hour being about the limit of its powers; but the passenger pigeon of the United States can accomplish a journey of 1000 miles between sunrise and sunset. It is also true, as the ingenious Herr Palmen has attempted to show that migrants during their long flights may be directed by an experience, partly inherited and partly acquired by the individual bird. They often follow the coast line of continents, and invariably take, on their passage over the Mediterranean, one of three routes. But this theory will not explain how they pilot themselves across broad oceans, and is invalidated by the fact, familiar to every ornithologist, that the old and young birds do not journey in company. Invariably, the young broods travel together, then come, after an interval, the parents and finally the rear is brought up by the weakly, infirm, molting and broken winged. This is the rule in autumn. The return journey is accomplished in the reverse order. The distance traveled seems, moreover, to have no relation to the size of the traveler. The Swedish blue throat performs its maternal functions among the Laps, and enjoys its winter holiday among the negroes of Soudan, while the tiny, ruby-throated humming bird proceeds annually from Mexico to Newfoundland and back again, though one would imagine that so delicate a little fairy would be more at home among the cacti and agaves of the Tierra Caliente than among the firs and fogs of the north.

FREEDOM IN FASHION.

Widely Divergent Predictions—Every Woman to Dress as She Pleases.

From Harper's Bazaar.

If we attempt to sum up all the predictions in circulation with respect to the future fashions we can find no other positive fact than that they will be more individual than ever as to the details of toilets. I go to one of the first dressmakers of Paris and she confides to me that sleeves plain, narrow and closely fitting the arm will be adopted.

"Are you sure of it?" I ask.

"Oh, quite sure. Here are the corsages of Madame de B——, the most elegant woman in Paris. You see that the sleeves are all tight."

I go from her to another renowned dressmaker. She lowers her voice and whispers in my ear, "sleeves will be full and even gathered at the top."

"Are you quite certain?"

"Oh, fully. Here is the dress of the Countess de T——, the most elegant woman in Paris. The sleeves are full, you see."

It has really become impossible at the present time to affirm that a certain style is or is not in vogue. One leader of fashion wears such or such a thing; another not less fashionable, wears just the opposite, and this is true as regards all the articles of dress. In the same manner very large bonnets are announced for the coming winter; yet medium sized and even very small ones continue to be made. The present epoch is less than ever in favor of uniformity.

Each lady chooses and adopts her own fashions and the lax discipline only asserts itself in a few general rules; for instance, no one wears crinoline, though a few ladies don small bustles and no one would take it into her head, unless she sets economy above elegance, to wear a sacque with sleeves sewed in the armhole. Apart from a few interdictions of this sort, there is the widest diversity of toilets; the army of women will no longer submit to be clad in uniform.

Wrappings, therefore, will be large; so will bonnets, at least in general; dresses will be short, but without exaggeration; trains will no longer be worn in the street; even for evening dresses it is said that skirts will be short in front at least, even when long behind. Polonaises will be revived for day and even certain evening dresses, but if the name remains the same the thing itself has changed; these polonaises are rather men's coats, which, coat shaped in front and on the hips, are in the back a dress, shorter than the skirt for day dresses, and infinitely longer than the latter when the toilet is designed for evening assemblies. These coats, or habits, are generally embroidered with gold or silver and are in all varieties, some high necked, with narrow standing collars, slightly cut away in front; others opening wide over a plastron of the same material as the skirt, and others with Louis Quatorze vests, long, square, embroidered on the edges and trimmed in the neck with fine lace that forms a voluminous jabot down the front. The sleeves, which are long with high necked and half long with open habits, are embroidered on the bottom with gold or silver. The favorite colors are all shades of green and admiral blue, a medium but vivid color.

AN OLD ENGLISH COUNTRY HOUSE.

BY HENRY JAMES, JR.

It stood upon a low hill, above the river,—the river being the Thames, at some forty miles from London. A long gabled front of red brick with the complexion of which time and the weather had played all sorts of picturesque tricks, only, however, to improve and refine it, presented itself to the lawn, with its patches of ivy, its clustered chimneys, its windows smothered in creepers. The house had a name and a history; the old gentleman taking his tea would have been delighted to tell you these things: how it had been built under Edward the Sixth, had offered a night's hospitality to the great Elizabeth (whose august person had extended itself upon a huge, magnificent, and terribly angular bed which still formed the principal honor of the sleeping apartments), had been a good deal bruised and defaced in Cromwell's wars, and then, under the Restoration, repaired and much enlarged; and how, finally, after having been remodeled and disfigured in the eighteenth century, it had passed into the careful keeping of a shrewd American banker, who had bought it originally because (owing to circumstances too complicated to set forth) it was offered at a great bargain; bought it with much grumbling at its ugliness, its antiquity, its incommodity, and who now, at the end of twenty years, had become conscious of a real æsthetic passion for it, so that he knew all its points, and would tell you just where to stand to see them in combination, and just the hour when the shadows of its various protuberances—which fell so softly upon the warm, weary brickwork—were of the right measure. Besides this, as I have said, he could have counted off most of the successive owners and occupants, several of whom were known to general fame; doing so, however, with an undemonstrative conviction that the latest phase of its destiny was not the least honorable. The front of the house, overlooking that portion of the lawn with which we are concerned, was not the entrance front; this was in quite another quarter. Privacy here reigned supreme, and the wide carpet of turf that covered the level hill-top seemed but the extension of a luxurious interior. The great still oaks and beeches flung down a shade as dense as that of velvet curtains; and the place was furnished like a room, with cushioned seats, with rich-colored rugs, with the books and papers that lay upon the grass. The river was at some distance; where the ground began to slope, the lawn, properly speaking, ceased. But it was none the less a charming walk down to the water.—November Atlantic.

I Acknowledge the Corn.

This is the origin of the phrase "I acknowledge the corn." In 1828 Mr. Stewart, a member of congress, said in a speech that Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana sent their haystacks, cornfields and fodder to the east for sale.

Mr. Wickliffe, of Kentucky, called him to order, in declaring that those states did not send haystacks and cornfields to New York for sale.

"Well, what do they send?" asked Stewart.

"Why, horses, mules, cattle, and hogs," said Mr. W.

"Well, what makes your horses, mules, cattle and hogs? You feed one hundred dollars worth of hay to a horse. You just animate and get upon your haystack and ride off to the market. How is it with your cattle? You make one of them carry fifty dollars worth of hay or grass to the eastern market. How much corn does it take, at thirty-three cents a bushel, to fatten a hog?"

"Thirty bushels?"

"Then you put thirty bushels into the shape of a hog, and make it walk off to the eastern market."

Then Mr. Wickliffe jumped up and said, "Mr. Speaker, I do acknowledge the corn."

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISION MARKET.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—There has been an active and strong market in grain during the past week, with an almost continual advance that recalls the days of the Keene corner of last year. Prices are now higher than since the decline fairly set in after that corner had resulted so disastrously to Keene, and the ring were merely trying to save themselves from loss by bolstering up prices. Nobody seems willing to take the responsibility of the present rise. It was variously declared that P. D. Armour, provision king, had turned his attention to cereals; that John B. Lyon, J. R. Keene, Theo. Cown and others were bulling the market, but they deny the charge. There is a mild sort of a corner, however, seems to be established by the facts that in the face of a better European crop and heavier receipts than last year, and in the face of advancing freights and larger stocks and smaller exports than last year prices of grain have gone up so fast that there is trouble in investing satisfactorily, and every industry is springing into new life and energy, as the golden reward appears every day, nearer and more palpable. The boom is greater than ever known here before, and is of that substantial "come to stay" kind that it encourages and renders enthusiastic even the most staid and conservative citizens.

The corn market closely followed wheat, and in some cases even led it. Oats were moderately strong, and steadily higher.

Provisions advanced slightly and are firmly held.

The tremendous receipts of cattle and hogs, the largest this week ever known in this or any other market, have had no effect on prices which have stiffened rather than weakened, a phenomena which an equally tremendous demand alone explains. The prospect for farmers never were so bright as to-day, and knowing this the honest yeoman spends money in a lavish way, quite unlike him, but exceedingly encouraging to those who benefit by it and prosper because of it. Sales during the week for the December option were made as follows:

Wheat, $1 05½@1 09; corn, 41⅛@43⅜; oats, 31⅛@32⅜; pork, 12½@12.45; lard, $8.8½.

Closing December prices—Wheat, $1 08¾; corn, 43⅛@43⅜; oats, 32⅜@32⅛; pork, $12 40@12 45; lard, $8 30. Closing cash prices—Wheat, $1 08⅛@1 08⅜; corn, 43⅛; oats, 32⅛@32⅜; rye, 86⅛; barley, 98; pork, 13@13⅛; lard, $8 30.

Whisky was unchanged at $1 11, although neighboring whisky markets were flopping about in a bewildering way.

Receipts for the week were: Wheat, 862,000; corn, 1,080,000; oats, 309,000.

Shipments—Wheat, 242,000; corn, 215,000; oats, 412,000.

Receipts for the same time last year—Wheat, 507,000; corn, 701,000; oats, 213,000.

Shipments—Wheat, 826,000; corn, 1,125,000; oats, 161,000.

The moral of this story of figures is that wheat, corn and oats are coming in much faster than last year, although the boom was more pronounced then, that less wheat and more corn and oats are being shipped than last year. It is probable that much of the grain now going forward by lake will not reach the seaboard until spring, much of it being now weather-bound. This is an element of strength in the market, because it retards immediate delivery of grain to meet contracts. It is being worked for all it is worth.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Business in general markets continues to show a fair aggregate movement for so advanced a stage of the season, and in some departments there is quite an active trade. Prices generally quite steady.

Wheat—Quiet for export but active and higher on speculative demand. It is rumored that one or two heavy parties are heavily short here and are getting squeezed.

Provisions quiet but steady.

Rio coffee not over active in demand, prices weak.

Refined sugars—Good demand, firm at an advance of an eighth on hards and standard A over last week's prices.

Teas—Slow demand, supplies are ample in quantity and assortment and holders' views easy.

Foreign fruits—Better demand except for raisins, which show but little improvement, Malagas unsettled in value; Valencias quite firm; layers $2, loose $2 05, London layers $2 45@2 50, Valencias 8¼@8½c, currants active, firm, 5½@5¾, prunes, moderately active, firm, new 5⅞@6⅛, figs, good demand, steady, 14@20c per layer; dried apples, good demand, firmer, western 3½@4c; state slice 4@5c, quarters 4@4½c, evaporated 6½@7, do. choice 7½@8c overland shipments the past week include 440 boxes.

Hops continue in good demand for export and brewers taking hold freely, prices steady, choice state $2 30@2 35.

Borax—Prices firm.

Quicksilver—Dull, easy.

Hides—Continue to droop without special demand.

Leather—Fair demand, prices steady.

Turpentine—Dull, unchanged.

Rosins—Better demand and firm; fine grades quiet but firm.

Petroleum—Better demand and prices easier; cases, 23@24½c.

Whale Oils—Weak and lower; crude northern, 50@52c; sperms, 98c but quiet.

Pig Iron—Slow sales and market more in buyers' favor; No. 1 X, $25; manufactured iron in good supply but demand slow.

Pig Lead—Very dull and barely steady at $4 85; tin plate, 12¾c with more business at a decline.

Hardware—Less active, but there is no important changes in the lists; nails not very active and the tone of the market weak and irregular.

Wool—Seems good in position, holders confident and gradually marking up rates. Sales include 310,000 pounds and 23 bales California spring at 26@35c.

Freights for the Pacific Coast.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The clipper freight market continues about the same as noted for several weeks past. There is a fair assortment of goods going forward, but, with the exception of one or two instances, there are not any large lots. Offerings are about fairly divided between measurement and heavy goods, but all are generally of the rough class or such freight as does not pay highest rates. Most of the finer class of goods is going by railroad. As it is, ships do not load very rapidly. The L. Schepp is about loaded, and the Seminole, to follow, has a portion of her cargo on board. The Hagarstown comes to berth with considerable engagement, but will not get away before the tenth of December. The Mervin, loading for Portland, will be done about the fifth of December. Rates remain quiet and steady on the basis of $8.00 per ton for dead weight. Tonnage is in fair supply, but owners do not seem disposed to accept business except at full rates; but as the lines, with one exception, have sufficient tonnage for present wants, no charters have been made in the past few days.

Isthmus freights are moderately active, and to-day's steamer had a fair cargo for California.

Freights at Boston are fairly active. The Emily F. Whitney has about one-half her cargo on board. Rail freights at Boston also active, with shipments of 318 barrels cranberries, 1200 pkgs. fish, 100 cases canned goods, 25 barrels rum, 160 coils rope, and 215 kegs horseshoes.

Freights at Philadelphia are not over active, yet the Eliza McNeil is well advanced, having on board around lot of railroad iron for Portland.

CELEBRATED STOMACH

Meets the requirements of the rational medical philosophy which at present prevails. It is a perfectly pure vegetable remedy, embracing the three important properties of a preventive, a tonic and an alterative. It fortifies the body against disease, invigorates and revitalizes the torpid stomach and liver, and effects a most salutary change in the entire system when in a morbid condition.

For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

TROPIC FRUIT LAXATIVE

(IN LOZENGE FORM,)

Is pleasant to take, and serves the purpose of Pills, Aperients, and nauseous Purgatives.

The most obstinate cases of HABITUAL CONSTIPATION, and disorders that follow in its train, such as BILIOUS COMPLAINT, HEADACHE, CEREBRAL CONGESTION, LOW SPIRITS, DISORDERED STOMACH, PILES, MELANCHOLY, Etc., are immediately relieved and effectually cured by its use.

TROPIC-FRUIT LAXATIVE is put up in bronzed tin boxes only. Avoid imitations. Ask your druggist for descriptive Pamphlet, or address the proprietor,

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN
The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.
IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL
CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Consultation Free; and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Sportsmen and Tourists.

THE UPPER CASCADES AND VICINITY, AT the present season, offers the finest inducements of perhaps any locality within a radius of 200 miles of Portland. Lakes, brooks and mountain trout await the disciples of the "gentle art," while the followers of Nimrod can cope with the festive bear and frolicsome cougar to their heart's content, whilst deer are not unknown.

An elegant and comfortable Hotel (The Borthwick House) is now established, with moderate prices, and reliable guides, dogs, boats, guns, and everything necessary for an outfit, can be had within ten minutes.

The glorious mountain scenery, elegant river views, and enormous government works, done, will amply repay a visit.

UNITED STATES MARSHAL'S NOTICE. ADmiralty seizure. The three-masted schooner "Cohasset." United States of America, District of Oregon, ss. Whereas, a libel has been filed in the District Court of the United States for the district of Oregon, on the 8th day of October, 1880, by Wm. Strong & Son, proctors, on behalf of [illegible] P. H. Whitelaw, in a cause of salvage, and praying the usual process and monition of the court, that all persons interested in the said vessel, her tackle, apparel and furniture, may be cited to answer the premises, and all due proceedings being had, that the same may be decreed to be sold and the proceeds thereof be distributed according to law. Therefore, in pursuance of the said monition, under the seal of said court to me directed and delivered, I do hereby give public notice generally, unto all persons having or pretending to have any right, title or interest therein, to appear before the aforesaid Court, at the city of Portland, Oregon, on the 6th day of December, 1880, if it be a court day, or else on the next court day thereafter, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, then and there to answer the said libel and to make their allegations in that behalf.

Dated at Portland, Or., the 11th day of November, 1880.

EDWARDS KEARNEY,
United States Marshal, District of Oregon.
